On 10 December 1976 [REDACTED] Program Coordinator for Information Services Group, Central Reference Service (who deals regularly and frequently with the Secretariat of the Department of State in relation to foreign biographic matters), received a telephone call from Mr. Bill Drummond, who identified himself as a member of the Office of the Deputy Secretary of State on extension 28930. He stated that he was organizing a "policy session" and wanted to know if he could use [REDACTED] for two days in mid-January 1977. The group would include about 50 people consisting of the President-elect, his cabinet, and members of the House and Senate committees concerned with foreign affairs. This information was related to me, and I informed the ADDA.
